DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 5 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawakami et al.

In Kawakami et al at column 3, a known arrangement wherein a spring connects the driven nut on a motor driven feed screw is described. While the specific "stepping motor" is not explicit, one possessing ordinary skill in the art would be expected to utilize such drive motor means as an obvious choice of design to achieve the well-known benefits that accrue thereto such as enhanced rotative feed screw control and more precise translation of the table.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawakami et al in view of Nagashima et al.

While "measuring means" are not explicit in Kawakami et al, one possessing ordinary skill in the art would be expected to readily provide such means as taught by Nagashima et al to the device of Kawakami et al if a measurement function is needed for conventional purposes, such as feedback to a control device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 3722

Claims 2-4 and 6-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
